MILES OF PEOPLE WAIT ADMISSION.

Unruly Crowds Last Night Forced Early Closing.

German Emperor and King George at Edward's Bier.

LONDON, May 19.—The last day of the lying in state of the body of King Edward brought a repetition of yesterday's scenes on an even larger scale. The resolute band of 1,000 or so persons, mostly women, who had braved the storm throughout the night was increased to a score of thousands before the sun rose, and by noon the queue awaiting admission to Westminster Hall stretched for miles to the westward of the Houses of Parliament.

Because of the enormous number of persons who were sure to be disappointed last night, it had been planned to keep the doors open until midnight, instead of closing them at 10 o'clock, as was the original intention. This plan, however, was frustrated by the action of those nearest the entrance, who became unruly and fairly rushed the building. To avoid a panic the doors were hastily closed and the police reserves were summoned to assist in restoring order. It was half an hour before this was accomplished. Soon after rain fell heavily and all but about 1,000 persons returned to their homes.

Emperor William arrived at noon today. German imperial yacht Hohenzollern reached Sheerness last evening, but at the emperor's request no salutes were fired. His Majesty did not land until this morning, when he proceeded to the capital.

At Victoria station the emperor was welcomed by King George, His Majesty's oldest son, the Duke of Cornwall; the Duke of Connaught, Prince Henry of Prussia and others of the royal families and diplomats. The greetings of the monarchs were most affectionate. From his cousin the emperor turned to the young Duke of Cornwall and kissed him on both cheeks. As the emperor and King George drove to Buckingham Palace great crowds in the streets exhibited a lively interest in the German ruler. Men raised their hats and women waved their handkerchiefs as the royal carriage passed. Arriving at the palace, the emperor was taken at once to the apartments of Queen Mother Alexandra.

This afternoon Emperor William paid a private tribute to the memory of his uncle, the late monarch. Accompanied by King George and their suites, it went to Westminster Hall, where thousands of all classes were passing the bier. The emperor approached the casket and remained before it for some minutes. The emperor personally placed on the casket a magnificent wreath. He then knelt by the catafalque, and for a few moments was engaged in prayer. On rising to his feet His Majesty turned to King George, who had knelt with his cousin before the bier, and held out both hands, which the other grasped. Both monarchs were visibly affected.

Throughout the afternoon yesterday Victoria station was the scene of a constant stream of foreign representatives arriving for the funeral. King Albert of the Belgians and King Manuel of Portugal were met by King George and the Duke of Cornwall.

Other arrivals included the Duke of Aosta, representing King Victor Emmanuel; M. Pichon, French minister of foreign affairs, representing President Fallieres; King Ferdinand of the Bulgarians, the crown prince of Roumania, the crown prince of Servia, Prince Henry of The Netherlands, Prince Charles of Sweden, two Chinese missions, headed by Prince Tsai Tao, brother of the prince regent, and representatives of various German principalities.

Most of the visitors went to Westminster Hall after 10 o'clock at night, when the hall was closed to the public, to witness the lying in state. Queen Mary accompanied the guests.

The official program of Friday's ceremonial, which was issued last night, is a long document, occupying five or six columns in the newspapers. Mr. Roosevelt, as special envoy of the United States, with M. Pichon, will ride in the eighth carriage in the procession.

HEAVY CURTAILMENT PLANNED.

New England Cotton Machinery to ...Close Down for Varying Periods...

BOSTON, May 19.—A further slackening in New England cotton mill machinery has been decided upon, and during the summer and fall months, a heavy curtailment of production is looked for. Many of the corporations which have their head offices in Boston will curtail from 25 to 33 1-3 per cent during the next few months, it is announced, or until the new cotton crop is available. Next week numerous mills will be stopped for a few days, and in the following week others will be idle. The Amoskeag corporation will shut down all its cotton mills in Manchester, N. H., next Thursday until June 1. The company, which is the largest cotton concern in the world, employs 15,500 operatives. In Fall River 200 or more corporations, employing 15,000 hands, will shut down May 27 or 28 until June 6.

MILLS ON SHORT SCHEDULE.

Six Thousand Providence and Olneyville Operatives Affected.

PROVIDENCE, May 19.—Six thousand operatives employed in woolen mills in this vicinity have been placed on a short time schedule by the manufacturers, in order to curtail production. Today the Riverside mills of Olneyville, went on a schedule of three days a week. Notices were posted in the Manton mills of Manton and the National and Providence mills of Olneyville, announcing a shut-down tonight, the beginning of a four-days-a-week schedule. The Weybosset and Valley mills are running five days weekly, and other plants have stopped part of their machinery. The mills named are owned by the American Woolen Company of Boston.

STEAMER ARRIVED.

Boston, May 19, Saxonia, from Liverpool.

HE KNEW GLAVIS WAS UNTRUTHFUL.

Lawler Says He Had No Prejudice Against Chief.

Ballinger Sends Perkins Letters, and More Asked For.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Assistant Attorney General Oscar Lawler continued under cross-examination by Louis Brandeis, counsel for L. R. Glavis, at the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation today. Mr. Lawler already had told the committee that he prepared unassisted the memorandum which President Taft had before him when he wrote his letter exonerating Secretary Ballinger and dismissing Glavis, thus contradicting the testimony of Stenographer Frederick M. Kerby, to the effect that officials of Mr. Ballinger's office helped prepare it. Counsel hope to have all the testimony in by next Saturday night, in which case argument will begin next week.

Anticipating another interesting session, the hearing room in the Senate office building was crowded to its limited capacity. The committee first held an executive session. When the open hearing began Chairman Nelson instructed the clerk to read a letter from Secretary Ballinger, in which the latter stated that in response to the verbal request of the committee his assistant, Mr. Finney, had gone through his personal and confidential file index, in an effort to locate any letters not already made public between himself and George W. Perkins, of J. P. Morgan & Co. Mr. Ballinger wrote that Mr. Finney had found nine letters between himself and Perkins regarding the naming of two glaciers and a ford which Perkins thought he had discovered while on a trip to Alaska last summer. No other letters had been found. Chairman Nelson announced that the committee had decided that the letters were not of such importance as to warrant their being made public.

Mr. Brandeis inquired the date of the letters, and was informed that the first from Perkins was dated December 20, 1909, and the others were written subsequently. Mr. Brandeis explained that he wished to locate two other letters from Perkins to Ballinger, one dated June 10, 1909, and the other written some time in September last. The first letter, he said, was in response to one Ballinger wrote the following day, expressing regret that his son, Edward, would be unable to accompany Perkins on his trip to Alaska. Mr. Finney promised to make further search for the two letters.

The cross-examination of Lawler then was resumed.

"Why did you accompany Balling on his trip to Beverly?" asked Mr. Brandeis.

"I was directed by Secretary Ballinger."

Mr. Brandeis called attention to a telegram sent from Seattle by Mr. Ballinger to Assistant Secretary Pierce August 29 last, which read: "Must see Lawler before his departure. Hold reports Cunningham matter."

Asked why Ballinger wished to see him, the witness said he did not recall.

Mr. Brandeis inquired if he was not prejudiced in favor of Ballinger when he wrote his opinion for the President.

"I had only the natural prejudice any one would have in favor of an honest man as against a dishonest man."

Lawler said he had never discussed the Glavis charges with Attorney General Wickersham before September 11, 1909, two days before the promulgation of the President's letter.

"When did you first become acquainted with Glavis?"

"I never did."

Brandeis questioned the witness about his legal connection before he became assistant secretary general. He asked him about cases in which he had been engaged in behalf of Western railroads when he lived in Los Angeles.

"I know what you are driving at," retorted the witness. "When I was United States attorney for the Southern district of California, about three years ago, I engaged in the prosecution of persons for land frauds in the Imperial valley in Southern California." The witness paused. "And the parties were convicted," he added, amid laughter. "At the inception of those cases," he continued, "Mr. Glavis, who was then chief of the field division for the Oakland district, made complaint to the commissioner of the Land Office that I was not qualified to conduct these cases. Glavis had made the complaint on the report of a subordinate." He said an examination was made by the Department of Justice, and he was permitted to conduct the cases to a successful conclusion.

"Did you have some reason to be prejudiced against Mr. Glavis?" asked Mr. Brandeis.

"I had no prejudice, I know he was absolutely untruthful."

"Don't you think that opinion disqualified you to write a letter as if you were President?"

"It was not an opinion, but a demonstration."

Mr. Brandeis precipitated a long wrangle among counsel and members of the committee when he asked Mr. Lawler to collect all papers and reports in connection with the matter.

CALLS ON EMPEROR WILLIAM.

Roosevelt Has Met Forty Distinguished Men of Great Britain.

LONDON, May 19.—Mr. Roosevelt spent the morning writing and reading. He saw no visitors. At luncheon at Dorchester House the former President met Lewis Harcourt, first commissioner of works. During the week he has met some 40 men distinguished in the public life of Great Britain, including, with two or three exceptions, all the members of the cabinet. This afternoon Mr. Roosevelt called on Emperor William at Buckingham Palace.

TAIL OF COMET STILL IN EAST.

All Calculations Shattered, Astronomers Puzzled.

Has Not Passed Across Earth, Nor Has Size Diminished.

WILLIAMS BAY, Wis., May 19.—Shattering all scientific calculations and completely puzzling astronomers, the glowing tail of Halley's comet appeared in the eastern sky today at a time when the world's comet authorities had agreed it should be in the west. Such eminent astronomers as Professor S. A. Mitchell of Columbia University, New York; Professor Edwin B. Frost, head of the Yerkes Observatory staff, and Professor Edward Barnard of the University of Chicago agree that the glow of light they saw in the east was the comet's tail. Professor Mitchell, Professor Frost and Professor Barnard say that any of the following three explanations may be right:

First—The curvature of the comet's tail may have developed to a wholly unexpected degree.

Second—Halley's comet may have ceased its tail-making activity, cutting off the glowing fan which is now puzzling the scientists.

Third—It is possible that all calculations are wrong, and that the comet has not yet passed the earth.

After leaving his telescope at daybreak, Professor Frost issued the following statement:

"Greater than all the theories and all the computations are the facts—and the fact is that the tail of Halley's comet has been appearing in the east in practically the same place it has appeared since yesterday morning. There is no question about that. The tail which glowed from the horizon close to the milky way before midnight until dawn has not yet passed across the earth. That is a certainty. In addition, it is also certain that there is no material diminution in the size of this tail as compared with the tail of the day before.

"We are confident that the calculations for the passage of the head of the comet between the sun and the earth are correct. Unquestioned astronomical authorities, working independently of each other in all parts of the world, arrived at these calculations, which have been correct in detail ever since the comet passed Venus May 2. We are also confident that the head of the comet made the transit as per schedule. But the mystery of the appearance of the tail in the east this morning is the great puzzle. It cannot be explained satisfactorily at this time."

A brilliant moon during the night proved a serious handicap to the scientists behind the battery of cameras and telescopes trained on the sky. Early observations were impaired, and work with the camera was cut off to a considerable extent by the moon. Despite this condition, the expert astronomers maintained their vigil until daylight. When the moon set several of them were repaid to no little extent for their patience.

At this time certain observations were made that may be of importance in adding to scientific comet lore. There was compensation for the scientists, also, in a spectacular exhibition of aurora lights and in some meteoric phenomena. The scientists believe there was no direct connection between the aurora borealis and the comet.

TAIL LAGGING FAR BEHIND.

Theory of Its Rotation Also Confirmed, Say Harvard Astronomers.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 19.—The report that the tail of Halley's comet was sighted last night in the east by three well known astronomers was received with much interest, but no great surprise, by the astronomers at the Harvard Observatory. The Harvard astronomers' explanation of the phenomenon is that it simply bears out the theory that the tail is lagging far behind the head of the comet, and, furthermore, it perhaps confirms the theory first evolved by Bessel when Halley's comet appeared in 1835, that the tail rotates. This theory of the rotation of the tail of a comet has been under discussion for many years. It was thought to be noticeable in Morehead's comet of last year. It means that the tail of the comet changes its position or inclination according to its position relative to the plane of the earth's ecliptic.

The following despatch was received at the Harvard Observatory today from Professor W. W. Campbell of the Lick Observatory, California:

"Halley's comet was visible in the eastern sky this morning. Its tail was at least 140 degrees in length, and lags far behind the Radius Vector. The earth will probably not pass through the tail."

Professor Campbell's observation of the tail shows that it stretched across the heavens from the eastern horizon, through the zenith and more than half way down the western horizon.

The above despatch was in keeping with a statement by Rev. J. H. Metcalf, the Taunton astronomer, who this afternoon expressed the opinion that the earth would pass south of the tail of the comet.

Though the weather and moonlight were against any careful search of the sky last night by the Harvard Observatory astronomers, some of them was surprised today to learn that fellow-scientists in other parts of the world had failed also.

Professor O. C. Wendell said the discussion as to the time at which the earth might pass through the tail of the comet was based on the conjecture that the glowing appendage has always been regarded as lagging somewhat after here heads. The comet

DIRECT NOMINATIONS FAIL.

New York Senate Defeats Measure Advocated by Hughes.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 18.—The Hinman-Green direct nomination bill, advocated by Governor Hughes, failed to pass the senate today by three votes, receiving 23 to 25 against. Twenty-one of the 24 Republican senators, re-inforced by two Democrats, voted for it.

In the vote which followed on the Grady-Frisbie bill, embodying the Democratic idea of electoral reform, the Republicans voted solidly in the negative and it was defeated by 36 noes and 11 ayes.

"Hope is not dead," Senator Hinman remarked when the result of the vote bearing his name was announced. "This fight has just begun." The one sure thing is that we'll beat the Meade-Phillips bill.

Whatever fate may be in store for the latter bill, the Hinman-Green bill cannot be enacted into law at this session, having already been refused a reconsideration in the assembly. Senator Hinman today distinctly disclaimed authority to speak for the governor, still he took occasion to emphasize his belief that the Meade-Phillips bill would be vetoed if passed.

NEW WAITING ROOM.

To Be Built at the Fall River Station for Newport and Providence Passengers.

The Fall River News says: In the building of a waiting room at the Fall River station, for Providence and Newport passengers, a long felt want will be fulfilled. The building will be erected at the extreme south end of the cover shed, between the Providence and Newport tracks, and will take in the space between two of the supports of the shed. The plans have been drawn, and the actual work on the building will be started Thursday.

The waiting room will have six windows on each side, and a door at each end. It will have heat in cold weather. The shelter will be put up principally for the convenience of the passengers coming from Providence and going right through to Newport, while waiting for trains, but will also be handy for local people who are waiting on the other side of the fence for their trains.

MISS HARRIMAN'S WEDDING.

Ceremony to be Performed at Arden on Same Date as Miss Townsend's in Washington.

Arrangements are being completed for the marriage of Miss Mary Harriman, eldest daughter of the late E. Henry Harriman, to Mr. Charles Cary Rumsey of Buffalo, which will take place Thursday, May 26, in the little Protestant Episcopal church in Arden, N. Y. Mrs. Harriman and the members of her family, who are now in New York, will go to Arden House, their country place at Arden, Saturday.

It is Mrs. Harriman's plan to have the wedding as simple as possible, and it is expected that no one but members of the two families will be present. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. Dr. MacGuinness, rector of the church, and will take place in the afternoon. When Miss Harriman's engagement was announced it was thought the wedding might be celebrated in June, but no plans were announced.

On the same day, in Washington, Miss Mathilde Townsend only daughter of Mrs. Richard H. Townsend, will be married to Mr. Peter Goelet Gerry, at the home of Mrs. Townsend, on Massachusetts avenue. As a result of Miss Harriman's wedding it will be impossible for Mr. Robert L. Gerry, who married Miss Cornelia Harriman, to be present at his brother's marriage. Miss Townsend also will have a simple wedding.

Mrs. Harriman and her daughter, Miss Carol Harriman, intend to leave Arden soon after the wedding and have planned a trip to California and the Hawaiian Islands. They will return late in September. Mr. Rumsey and his bride, after a brief wedding trip, will return to Arden House, where it is their intention to remain the greater part of the summer. Invitations to Miss Harriman's wedding will be written to her relatives, and the formal announcements will be sent out afterward.

NAVY BILL TO BE RECALLED.

Several of Secretary Meyer's Ideas to be Incorporated in the New Amendments.

Secretary of the Navy Meyer has won a partial victory in the Senate committee on naval affairs for his plan to re-organize the department. It was agreed that the bill, which is already reported, should be recalled, and in accordance with this sentiment Senator Perkins, chairman of the committee, requested that it be returned to the committee for further amendments.

When the committee takes up the bill today it will insert in it a provision under which the bureau of equipment will be abolished and its work distributed among the remaining bureaus of the department. The purchase of fuel has already been transferred to the jurisdiction of the bureau of supplies and accounts. The construction features will go to the bureau of construction and repair, and the operation of machinery, when installed, to the bureau of steam engineering. This is a part of the proposal made by Secretary Meyer in his plan of re-organization.

Taking cognizance of the trouble between the Secretary of the Navy and Paymaster General E. B. Rogers, who is retiring from that office, the committee will adopt an amendment to the bill under which the paymaster general will be able to retire as a rear admiral of the navy.

Another amendment which has been agreed upon will leave the place of building of ships to the discretion of the Secretary of the Navy.

INNOCENT, AND WILL PROVE IT.

So Say Mayor and Other Noted Men of Lawrence.

Eleven Arrests Made on Bribery and Larceny Charges.

LAWRENCE, Mass., May 18.—Expressions of great surprise following the arrest last night of Mayor William P. White, his private secretary, Matthew de Grey Ripon; James A. Hamilton, chief engineer of the fire department, and eight other prominent Lawrence political men continued to be heard today throughout the city. Mayor White declared that his arrest was an outrage. "I am innocent," he said, "and will prove it." The others who were arrested made similar statements.

The 11 arrests occurred last night following action of the Essex county grand jury in Newburyport yesterday, when 12 secret indictments were returned. It was said that other arrests would be made today. All the men arrested, who were immediately released on bail, were given a hearing in Newburyport today.

Mayor White, ex-Alderman Matthew Burns, Ernest Dube, a dry goods dealer; George B. Smart, a master plumber, and Frederick W. Koschitzsky, a cigar salesman, are charged with conspiracy to bribe; ex-Alderman Xavier G. Legendre, with requesting a bribe; Chief Hamilton, W. H. Molson and Thomas A. Keegan, a master plasterer, with bribery, and John J. Cummings, a wholesal liquor dealer, and Matthew de Grey Ripon with larceny.

The indictments grew out of the grand jury's investigation of ex-Alderman Legendre's charge that members of the city government and other prominent citizens had offered him money, said to have been $1,000, for his aid in voting to oust Fire Chief Hamilton from his position in the city service. Hamilton is now under charges preferred by Mayor White that Hamilton is incompetent, has exceeded his authority has been grossly extravagant and has been guilty of bribery.

Hamilton, who has held office for one year, was named for office, it is understood, largely for political effect, and with little expectation that he would be confirmed. The unexpected happened, however, and one section of the city's politicians ever since has been working to turn him out of office.

Legendre's charges, made last December, were taken up so vigorously by a local newspaper that District Attorney W. Scott Peters presented the facts in the case to the Essex county jury, sitting in a special session last February. The grand jury, starting with Legendre's charges, widened its investigations until they included every city department where corruption was suspected to lurk. At that session the jury made no finding in the matter, referring it to the May term.

The indictments made in the supplementary report came like a bombshell. Most of the men arrested were examined by the grand jury during its probe. Mayor White is a Republican and serving his second term in the mayor's chair.

MORE TO BE ADMITTED.

Decision of Secretary Dickinson Adds Eighty-Eight Cadets to the Number for West Point.

As the result of a decision announced by Secretary Dickinson, there will be a substantial increase in the corps of cadets at the West Point Military Academy. This, in substance is, that after March 2, next year, cadets may be admitted to the academy as necessary, not only of the class graduating in 1911, but also of the 1912 class, making a total increase of 88 original appointments over the usual number of admissions.

FAT FOLKS FAVOR

House Mixture That Takes Off the Fat Rapidly—Causes No Wrinkles—No Stomach Ills and Requires Neither Dieting Nor Exercise.

Too much fat is both uncomfortable and dangerous, but usually fleshy people prefer to put up with its inconvenience rather than punish themselves with the tiresome exercising usually prescribed, or endanger their health by taking the so-called "cures" and patent fat "reducers."

This self-sacrifice of comfort and health to overabundant fat is entirely unnecessary, however, as Mrs. Lucile Bigger tells us there is a home receipt that is far superior in every way to anything money will buy for reducing superfluous flesh. It is said this simple mixture will take the fat off of man or woman at the rate of at least a couple of pounds a week without even causing wrinkles. Moreover it does not disturb the stomach, but is a good thing for the system clearing away pimples, and best of all it does not interfere with the diet. You can use it and eat the same things as whatever you like. This receipt is as follows—½ ounce Marmola, ½ ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic and 3½ ounces of Peppermint Water. Get these ingredients at any drug store, mix them together at home and take one teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

Mrs. Bigger, as is well known, is a famous beauty expert, and whatever she recommends is sure to be found eminently satisfactory.

Cook in Comfort

You no longer need wear yourself out with the weakening heat of an intensely hot kitchen. You can cook in comfort.

Here is a stove that gives no outside heat. All its heat is concentrated at the burners. An intense blue flame (hotter than either white or red) is thrown upwards but not around. All the heat is utilized in cooking—none in outside heating.

New Perfection WICK BLUE FLAME Oil Cook-stove

entirely removes the discomfort of cooking. Apply a match and immediately the stove is ready. Instantly an intense heat is projected upwards against the pot, pan, kettle or boiler, and yet there is no surrounding heat—no smell—no smoke.

Cautionary Note: Be sure you get this stove—see that the name-plate reads "New Perfection."

Why? Because The New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove is scientifically and practically perfect. You cannot use too much wick—it is automatically controlled. You get the maximum heat—no smoke. The burner is simple. One wipe with a cloth cleans it—consequently there is no smell.

The New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove is wonderful for year-round use, but especially in summer. Its heat operates upward to pan, pot, or kettle, but not beyond or around. It is useless for heating a room.

It has a Cabinet Top with shelf for keeping plates and food hot.

It has long turquoise-blue enamel chimneys. The nickel finish, with the bright blue of the chimneys, makes the stove ornamental and attractive. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet.

TREES GROWING WELL.

Bailey's Attempt at Forestry a Success—The Development of Island Park.

There are indications that the railway's attempt at forestry at Island Park is to be a success. Last fall 200 maple trees were set out, and because of past experience the each tree site was supplied with a liberal supply of loam to take the place of the gravel which forms the soil in that locality. They were thus given a chance for life and are all putting out good foliage this spring. It is figured, though, that the real test will come next winter, and if they come out in good style another summer the prospects of a grove in a few years is assured. Upon the success of having these trees grow depends more than in this line at the park, for the company is desirous of taking away the barren look of the broad grass patches.

The park appears to be developing along a different line than originally intended, for instead of being a resort to receive its greater patronage from those who are brought there by the cities on the trolley cars for afternoon or evening outings, the patronage is already principally from the settlement which has grown up around about, of those who are out for the summer vacation, while those who go to the park for a few hours from the cities are in the minority. The settlement is growing fast and gives greater permanency to the traffic of the road than if only the park were there. Whether the development in this way will induce the company to provide an assortment of such features as are common at summer parks remains to be seen.

MIDDLETOWN.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

Quite a number were present Wednesday evening, including a party from Fall River, at the home of Mrs. Charles B. Weaver on the West Main road. It apparently was not generally known that in the event of bad weather the strawberry supper for the benefit of St. Mary's Church was to be postponed. In consequence the affair will be repeated.

Rev. Latta Griswold, rector of the Berkeley Memorial Chapel, has been in attendance at the diocesan convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in Providence this week.

Vegetation, especially weeds, will take an extra leap ahead from the effects of the rain, which was much needed.

The annual meeting of the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal Church was not held Wednesday evening owing to the weather.

Mr. Frank Nunes of Paradise avenue, who last winter purchased the Jonas Wyatt farm on Berkeley avenue, is doing considerable work about the house and grounds to put it in shape. The place is old and badly run down. Mr. Nunes expects to lease the land, but will use the land for farming purposes.

PERSONALS.

Harvard University is the beneficiary to the extent of $25,000 under the will of W. Bayard Cutting, Jr. The testator died March 10 at Assouan, Egypt.

Friends of Clara Morris, the dramatic actress, are alarmed over the fact that she may become blind. She is at her home in Yonkers, and during the past week or so it is said her sight has failed considerably. She is suffering from a general breakdown and her conditions is regarded as serious.

The former partners of Andrew Carnegie, including Charles L. Taylor, Charles M. Schwab, William E. Corey, Henry R. Pearcook and Judge J. Gary, have decided to erect a statue of the ironmaster, almost twice life size and to cost $50,000. The statue is to be of bronze and will be placed on a marble pedestal inside the entrance to the Carnegie Institute in Pittsburg.

President Taft will make the principal address at the Commencement exercises at Bryn Mawr College June 15. The occasion will mark the twenty-fifth anniversary of the college and the completion of a $500,000 endowment fund. The President is expected to discuss woman's college education. Helen Taft, the President's daughter, is a student at Bryn Mawr but will not be graduated until next year.

John A. Kasson, former minister to Austria, who died Wednesday, was prominent in many walks of public life since the days of the civil war. He was a colleague of Garfield, the latter was the Republican leader in the House of Representatives and had much to do with the framing of important legislation of that period. He relinquished the office of minister to become minister from the United States to Austria, after a career of diplomatic life. This is the most distinguished service were the successful negotiations in collaboration with the late Walter Phelps, of the treaty between America, Great Britain and Germany, which settled the dispute between the three powers as to the ownership of the Samoan islands, and resulted in a division of the group between the three powers. Mr. Kasson wrote a history of the formation of the United States Constitution and a history of the Monroe Doctrine. He was born in Vermont, but while still a young man moved to Iowa.

UNITED STATES RANKS SECOND.

The Total Displacement of Navy Vessels Exceeded Only by Those of Great Britain.

The United States leads the world in the total displacement of completed warships, with the single exception of Great Britain, but is behind five other countries in the number of such vessels. Reckoning the war vessels built and building the United States and Germany are running on equal terms, but the former is leading in displacement when the ships provided for in the pending naval appropriation bill are added to the calculation. Great Britain, the United States and Germany remain the leading naval powers.

Great Britain, the naval pacemaker of the world, will have 498 completed and provided for warships, of 2,100,-872 total displacement.

The United States, when its ships completed and provided for are in operation, will have 178 war craft, of 839,945 displacement.

Germany will have 223 ships, with displacement of 65,384 tons.

France will have 503 war craft of 766,903 displacement.

Japan will have 191 warships of 493,-703 displacement.

Russia will have 224 vessels of 412,250 displacement.

Italy will have 122 vessels of 259,-278 displacement.

PORTSMOUTH.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

On the opening day, Wednesday, Wednesday, Miss Jane Dennis of "Willow Brook" entertained at luncheon 21 members of The Wednesday Club of Providence. Although the day was unpleasant, they expressed themselves as much pleased with their outing.

Mr. James Whitney of the Rhode Island Coal Company, son of the owner, has taken rooms for the season at "Willow Brook."

It is proposed to spend two hours in dancing and two in whist at the Sunshine entertainment.

Miss Etta M. Sherman will entertain the Oliphant Club at the Free Library, of which she is librarian.

Miss Helen Allen, daughter of Rev. William H. Allen of East Greenwich, and granddaughter of the late Dr. Benjamin Greene, will graduate from Boston University the first week in June. She has already been engaged to teach French and history in the Falmouth, Mass., high school and will enter upon her work in September.

The men working the fishing traps of Mr. William B. Mott and the late James H. Fish have been successful in securing good catches.

Mrs. Clifton Hulman, who has been at the Newport hospital for a fortnight, is now visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Downing.

Mrs. Harry Dale has returned from New York, bringing her daughter Dorothy, who has been at a hospital in that city several months for treatment. She has improved in general health, but the change, for the difficulty which caused her to go there is slight.

Mrs. Charles Spooner of Newport has been guest of her mother, Mrs. David Brown.

The drama, "Her Busy Day," which given in Newport, was highly spoken of and the company will do its best here.

Those who were watching for the comet Wednesday night saw a fine electrical display of lightning, accompanying low and distant rumbles of thunder, which cleared away quickly the heavy fog which enveloped everything.

SOUTH AMERICA FILLING UP.

[Bulletin of American Republics.]

Ten years ago the immigration to the Argentine Republic was almost exclusively Italian and Spanish. Today there are colonies of Russians near Bahia Blanca; 10,000 Poles are settled in Misiones, and 7,000 Finns are arranging to be their neighbors. Bulgarians, Croats, Greeks and Turks from Asia Minor are distributed in increasing streams by the immigration offices. The writer has personally handled hundreds of these folk on railroad work, and found them in the great majority young, healthy and hard working people, both men and women. From this semi-Slav immigration to that of the Far East is but a step. Japanese commercial and immigration agents are already in Buenos Ayres and Rio. If the first shipments of Asiatics to the Platte are carefully handled, wisely established and well treated during their first residence there they, thousands who await their letters will come of their own accord.

Are You a Paint Maker?

You don't have to be one in order to mix your own paint when you have a house to paint. It's mighty easy to buy 4 gallons of L. & M. Paint, and 3 gallons of pure Linseed Oil, and put both in a large pail and mix well together. You will then make 7 gallons of the best paint at a cost of about $1.30 per gallon and then have a good painter paint your house. The L. & M. is sold by: R. R. Barker, Newport.

MORNING, NOON AND NIGHT.

[Charles Swain.]

Morn calleth to a fair boy straying
'Mid golden meadows rich with clover dew;
She calls, but he still thinks of naught save playing,
And so she smiles and waves him an adieu,
While he, still busy o'er his flowery store,
Dreams not that morn, sweet morn, will return no more!

Noon cometh, but the boy to manhood growing,
Needs not the time; he sees but one fair form.
One sweet young face, from bowers of jasmine glowing,
And all his blissful heart with love is warm.
So noon, unnoticed seeks the western shore,
And man forgets that noon returns no more.

Night tappeth lightly at a casement window, gleaming
With the dim firelight, flickering faint and low,
By which a gray-haired man is sadly dreaming
O'er pleasures gone, as all life's pleasures go.
Night bids him come to her; he leaves his door,
Silent and lone, and he returns no more.

PANCIES.

The warm wave bids us rail anew
Against the ways of heartless fate;
Though coal costs more than ice, 'tis true,
It isn't melting while you wait.

"It is more blessed to give than to receive."

"Where did the fellow hit you?"

The way of the transgressor is hard, of course. It is so thoroughly and persistently traveled.—[Puck.

Her Mother—Edith, I heard you giggling in the parlor last night. You must have been beside yourself.

The Daughter—No'm; I was beside William.

Porter—'Bout fifty cents worth, sah.—[Boston Transcript.

"Why do you insist on my going with you when you ask father for my hand again?" asked Ethelind.

"Because," answered Claude, "I don't want to give him any more opportunities to presume because there are no ladies present."—[Washington Star.

Him—I—I don't know how to tell you how I love you.

Her—Don't worry about that—I'll take it as it comes. When you want to get nervous about is how to tell papa about it.—[Cleveland Leader.

"When did you discover that you loved me, sweetheart?" he asked tenderly.

"When I found myself getting mad every time any one called you a fool," she answered blushily.—[Buffalo Express.

Fuddy—Why do you get up so late mornings.

Duddy—Well, you see, until the day gets advanced a bit I can't tell whether I should put on my winter flannels or my gauze underwear.—[Boston Transcript.

Him—I thought you and Ethel had had a quarrel.

Her—We have. I hate her!

Him—But I saw you kiss each other when you met yesterday.

Her—Yes, but that's all we do. We hardly speak.—[Cleveland Leader.

"Is this silk hat the latest style?" asked the man who had been appointed on a reception committee.

"The very latest," replied the obliging salesman.

"Then I don't want it. What I'm after is something new enough not to be shabby and old enough to look as if I were used to wearing it."—[Washington Star.

INAUGURATION DAY.

The constitutional amendment to change the date of inauguration day has failed in the House of Representatives by the lack of one vote to make a two-thirds majority. It is difficult to conceive of any objection to a change which would harm nobody and promote the comfort of 200,000 people, but there were found 70 members to oppose it, and several of them made speeches against it. There was a good deal said about the sacredness of the constitution and the fact that it has been amended only on a few great occasions and for great ends. It seemed to be regarded as a sort of sacrilege to amend it so that the day of inauguration could come at a season when the weather would probably be pleasant, instead of at a date when the weather is apt to do its very worst, for of all months in the year March is notoriously the worst misdemeanant.

There is no sacredness about March 4; it is scarcely more than an accident, and the first inauguration occurred April 30. All that is necessary for a great public convenience is to permit President Taft to hold office a few more weeks. The opponents had a good deal to say about treating inauguration like a Wild West show or the circus. Well, it's a great outdoor pageant, like a coronation. The people have a right to be interested in it to go to see it, and it's something of a political education to go to Washington and see the government change hands. At any rate, it's made a show by the people, whom Congress is presumed to represent, although it occurs on March 4, and refusing to change the date will not keep people away or turn the occasion into a funeral procession or a Quaker meeting. Some of the members opposed the change because it was in the interest of Washington hotels and boarding-houses which fleece the people, but if they are to be fleeced any way, why not try to have the fleecing done under decent weather conditions?

ADULTERATED CLOTHING.

Now that we have a pure-food law, the next step ought to be legislation which will give us unadulterated clothing. Investigations recently made showed that a small portion of the dry goods and clothing material is what it is warranted to be, almost all of it being adulterated to a large degree. The result is of course that for the most part the people are paying for something they do not receive and are being robbed, since the price is not reduced to meet the actual cost of the poorer material. What is needed, then, is a law to regulate the sale of dry goods and clothing material so that the public will receive what it supposes it is paying for. This matter can hardly be placed on the same plane of importance as the pure-food law, inasmuch as the element of health enters largely into the latter. Yet it is of no small moment that the people should not be deceived in regard to anything they buy, but should be able to obtain just what they desire and not something inferior, masquerading under the guise of a better article. The public is entitled in this matter to the same protection of the law which it now receives in regard to food, about which it formerly was deceived as it still is with reference to clothing.

At present there is no legislation which can be used to punish those who manufacture inferior goods and give them a guarantee which is not honest, and so these manufacturers can proceed with this business with impunity. It is not to be believed, however, that the people will long submit to this practice when it becomes generally known that it is common. It was only upon the insistent demand of the public that the pure food law was enacted and it will only be upon a similar demand that a law to prevent the adulteration of dry goods and clothing material will be passed. It remains, therefore, for the people to arouse themselves again and make a demand, and persist in it, which will bring legislation to prevent this deception of the public in regard to the clothing purchased and worn.

Inasmuch as a large part of the buying of material for clothing is done by women, it would seem as though here was a good field for them to make their influence felt and accomplish another reform for the benefit of the whole country. That they have the power to influence legislation, to make Congress and assemblies grant their just and reasonable demands, has been proved in the past and can be shown again. Here then is an opportunity for them to enter upon a fresh crusade in the interests of the people. This can be done through existing organizations of women or by a new combination especially for this purpose. It matters little how it is done, but there is need for it to be done in some manner, and the women are best situated to undertake the campaign. It would be a great victory for them to gain such a result as the passage of laws on this subject, and the endeavor to do so would be a work worthy of their united efforts. The women of this country are doing much which is worth while for the improvement of the condition of the people, and here is another opportunity which looms large with importance and promise if they will but seize it.

It is time that in this country the people should be able to make purchases of all kinds without the danger of deception, or at least without the danger of deception against which there is no prohibition under the law. It is the duty of the government to protect those who live under it from all sorts of injustice, and it certainly is an injustice for the people to be sold a poor quality of goods under the guarantee that they are better than they really are, and to be allowed to be deceived by adulterated goods which bear the stamp of the genuine. It is the plain duty of the government to adopt legislation which shall put an end to this deception and injustice. It is the duty of the people to agitate this matter until that end is attained, and it is the privilege and opportunity of the women of the land to take a leading part in the crusade which shall bring about the result needed.

IMPRISONMENT.

It has been supposed that since the days of John Howard and Elizabeth Fry, and especially within the past 25 years, much had been accomplished to mitigate the unnecessary horrors of imprisonment. An article on the subject in the Hibbert Journal, English, by a man who has served four and a half years in an Australian prison and a short time in an English prison, would indicate that nothing had been accomplished; or that, if much has been, the terrors of the prison before the rise of humanitarianism must have been inconceivable. If the writer's picture of prison life be true we may at least hope that in American prisons conditions are less revolting. This writer gives an appalling description of the treatment he experienced, declares that imprisonment is the destruction of the victim, physically, mentally and morally, and calls loudly for the abolition of the whole thing.

What are we to do with criminals? There was a time when nearly all of them were put to death. There were more than 200 capital offenses under the English law. Hanging was the penalty for petty larceny. All that seems to us indescribably savage. Both in England and in this country, capital offenses have been reduced to two or three, and in this country death isn't often inflicted even for those. The lash seems to us brutal in the extreme. We've abolished it in the army and navy, and every state but one, we believe, has chopped up the whipping posts into kindling wood. There is no use in talking about fines; few criminals could pay them. Exile is impracticable, partly because there is no more room for Botany Bays and partly because transportation has been generally abolished as too cruel. A few years ago Englishmen and Americans were shocked at the sufferings of Captain Dreyfus in the penal settlement of Devil's island. Such imprisonment as the writer in the Hibbert Journal describes certainly ought to be radically reformed, but if we abolish imprisonment what are we to do with criminals? Shall we simply turn them loose with a lecture from the judge?

Senator Aldrich and the administration Republicans in the Senate have practically admitted their inability to come to any sort of agreement with the insurgents on President Taft's railroad bill, and are shifting their line of operations to the Democratic Senators, in an attempt to secure enough support to bring the measure to a vote. The insurgents are ready to compromise, but apparently only by having a large share of the agreement on their side of the question. It is quite possible that the Democrats will feel the same way about it, with the result that the administration Republicans will have only the short end.

Two weeks ago the New York board of aldermen passed a resolution permitting a physician to have a servant in uniform in front of his house, to attend the carriages of his patients. Mayor Gaynor has vetoed the resolution, saying it is wholly unnecessary, as the doctor in question, or any other person, can dress his servant or himself in any costumes he may see fit, without the permission of the board of aldermen. It looks like a good piece of advertising on the part of the physician.

The movement against kissing has reached the Chicago public schools, the board of education having received a request from a national association that the school children be allowed to take the following pledge: "In order to encourage good health and lessen the spread of consumption I hereby pledge myself to discourage the custom of kissing on the lips whenever it is in my power." The board of education has the matter under advisement.

It is now the plan of the organization Republicans in New York to put through an entirely new bill, which will provide for the direct nomination of Assemblymen, Senators and Representatives in Congress and will take effect immediately. If this passes it is believed that Governor Hughes will veto it, or any other measure, and will call the legislature back for an extra session to re-consider the bill just voted down.

Colonel Samuel P. Colt denies the report that he has decided to be a candidate for United States Senator, to succeed Nelson W. Aldrich, as unauthorized. He says his business interests are taking every moment of his time and he is giving no thought to the question of the Senatorship. Colonel Colt undoubtedly does not wish to repeat the experience of three years ago.

The discovery by astronomers of unusual spots on the sun has no more connection with the comet than did the ruddy glow of Wednesday evening's sunset. They are neither of them unusual phenomena, and would have been seen even if there had been no comet.

The Standard Oil Company has given an increase of wages to all workmen employed in its works and factories, ranging from six to ten per cent. The advance is estimated to add from $6,000,000 to $10,000,000 to the company's annual pay roll, and was voluntary.

Denver, Col., which decided by a majority of 10,000 in favor of license, the vote being nearly two to one against prohibition, has celebrated the victory in "a carnival of gayety," as the telegraph reports say.

The New York papers report the death of a man 105 years old, who left a widow 102 years old. He was born in Russia and had lived in this country since he was 24 years old.

The world still moves along in its accustomed way. The comet has not hurt anything yet.

According to some of the astronomers we were not in syzygy, after all. So sorry!

And so the much dreaded comet is nothing but an immense gas light.

Says the earth to the comet: "Never touched me!"

THE CONNOISSEURS.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., at a dinner in New York, admitted that he was not a gourmet.

"These fat, red-faced men," he said, "only amuse me. They know all the vintage years of champagne, Bordeaux and Bourgogne. They differentiate learnedly between California peach-fed and Southern hominy-fed hog. They compare the flavors of the teal, the mallard and the canvasback.

"But I, listening, only smile. It all reminds me so vividly of two little boys in the country. These two little boys were smoking, when one was taken suddenly and violently ill. The other said:

"'It's queer that this tobacco hurts you. It's made of very good corn silk.'

"'But you see,' groaned the other, 'I'm used to nothin' but fine grape leaves.'"

ANTI-COMET PILLS.

"It's a vera bum comet dat doan bring no good to nobody nohow, an' I'm gwan to raise good cane while he tail shines." This is the sentiment expressed by old Dr. Perrywood of Port-au-Prince, Hayti, and the sentiment brought him money so fast he cannot handle it all.

As soon as it became apparent that Halley's comet was unpleasantly close to the earth and might hurt some folks as the earth passed through its tail, old Dr. Perrywood became busy with his herbs and sold pills for a franc apiece, giving a guarantee that 30 pills taken at hourly intervals would keep havoc at a reasonable distance from the taker. Professing to have a comet proof anatomy, the venerable doctor agreed to give a decent burial to all those probable victims who advanced the small sum of one louis. Dr. Perrywood is a negro herb specialist who left South Carolina several years ago to build up a practice in Port-au-Prince.

YOUTH DEGENERATE AS RESULT OF BLOW ON HEAD.

Prosecutor Frederick A. Pope of Somerville, N. J., has been investigating the alleged dual nature of William Miller, a 17-year-old youth of this place, who suffered a concussion of the brain from being hit on the head with a base ball. Miller, it is said, has had periods of sub-consciousness during which he planned and executed daring robberies of which he appeared to be entirely ignorant when he recovered his normal condition. Prosecutor Pope is satisfied that the boy is not shamming and it is probable that a commission will be appointed to determine his true mental state.

Miller received his injury while visiting in Los Angeles. Before the accident he had lived all his life at Raritan with his widowed mother, who is well-to-do. He was a member of a Sunday School and was known as a moral youth up to the time he developed his odd mania for daring robberies since his return from California.

Scituate Democrats Tighten Their Grip on Town Affairs.

Memorial Tablet to Governor Elisha Dyer—Brown Juniors Celebrate in the Rain.

The Democrats of Scituate tightened their grip on town affairs Wednesday by electing every one of their candidates, with majorities averaging about 270 votes. The margin of victory was somewhat larger than usual, although nowhere near the total possible vote was polled on account of the rainy weather. Of the new town council, Daniel Howland ran last year on the Republican ticket. This year he was endorsed by both parties. The action of the Democrats in doing this dissipated a considerable amount of opposition, and served to swell the Democratic pluralities. Town Clerk Potter received the largest vote. He had 575 votes running for re-election unopposed. Town Treasurer Capwell and Town Sergeant Colvin were re-elected without opposition. None of the Republican candidates received more than 153 votes, while none of the Democrats received less than 400. The Republicans named no candidates for justice of the peace.

A marble tablet to the memory of Governor Elisha Dyer has been placed in St. Stephen's Church, Providence, by Mrs. Dyer. At the conclusion of the vespers Tuesday, a brief dedicatory service was held by Rev. George McC. Fiske, D. D., the rector, only the immediate members of the family being present. The tablet was designed by Henri Schoenhardt of Providence and is of Tennessee marble, seven feet in height. At the base a space for the following inscription: "Sacred to the memory of Elisha Dyer, born 1839, died 1906. Governor of Rhode Island and Mayor of Providence. 'May the souls of the faithful departed through the mercy of God rest in peace.'" Above the inscription panel, in the centre, is a portrait of Governor Dyer and two kneeling angels, with arms extended upward. The one on the left guards the state seal of Rhode Island and supports a cross, while the one on the right guards the seal of the city of Providence and supports the portrait. At the upper left side is draped the national flag and on the opposite a Rhode Island state flag is draped. Above the whole is a funeral urn.

The members of the Junior class of Brown University went on their annual cruise down the bay Wednesday in spite of a pouring rain, which began to fall long before the time of their departure on steamer Squantum. At 12:30 the third-year men gathered in the Brown Union and, dressed in all sorts of fantastic garments, marched down College Hill to the dock. Some of the Juniors were dressed as sailors, farmers, clowns, convicts, pedlers. "Charlie" Abernante, the college barber, who has gone on many a Junior cruise in the past, sprung a big surprise on the Juniors by appearing as a Chinaman smoking a long, dreamy pipe, the bowl of which he had to keep upside down on account of the heavy rain. Many wore oilskins and carried umbrellas which had seen better days. All along the river front the Squantum was saluted by the boats tied up at the docks when the shouts of the students were heard. The Squantum made its first stop at Field's Point, where a shore dinner was served. The boat made Rocky Point its next stop and a bee line was made for the ball grounds, which was a field of mud. This, however, did not interfere with the ball game arranged between the engineers and the A. B. men, and which was played for "blood" on account of the intense rivalry between the students of the two departments. After the game the Squantum sailed down as far as Conanicut Island. The Juniors returned about 6 o'clock

Henry Bowen, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bowen of Providence and a great-grandson of Henry Bowen, for 30 years secretary of state, died at his home Wednesday, in his twenty-third year. He had been seriously ill about two weeks, though he was an invalid practically all his life. He suffered from valvular heart trouble. He was an earnest student and wrote many excellent verses and prose selections. English was his specialty. He was born December 15, 1887, and was a twin of Joseph Bowen. His brother Donald and his sister Dorothy are also twins. His father and mother and brothers and sister survive him. Although confined to his home nearly all the time, he was cheerful and never allowed his affliction to master his spirit. His education was received through tutors, some of the Brown professors being engaged. He was of an old Rhode Island family, being a descendant of Deputy Governor Jabez Bowen of the Revolutionary days. Up to two weeks ago he was in good health, considering his infirmities, but was suddenly stricken with complications, from which he could not rally.

As a result of the ruthless desecration of the sacred Torah, which rests upon the ark in the Hebrew synagogue of the Congregation Agudos Hohololi, on Chalkstone avenue, Providence, the police have been asked to look for the offenders, and a reward of $100 has been offered for their capture. Wednesday a window of the synagogue was found open. An investigation disclosed the sacred Torah lying upon the floor, torn and covered with filth. The desecration was a severe blow to the members of the congregation and Rabbi Israel S. Rubenstein ordered that today be observed as a day of fasting because of the occurrence. The Torah is a parchment scroll on which are inscribed the first five books of the Old Testament. It is considered the most holy article on the ark and is never touched except by those invested with proper ecclesiastical authority. The inscribing is all done by hand, many months being consumed in the completion of the scroll. Similar treatment to that given the Torah was given also to the Talmud. This book is not so sacred, however, and its desecration is not looked upon as so serious a matter. The damage to the two scrolls is estimated at $350.

Dr. Joseph C. Maranda, for 32 years a practicing physician and surgeon and for years a drug store proprietor in Woonsocket, will leave for Montreal, where he will take up his permanent residence. Dr. Maranda for the past six years has been president of Circle Leclerc, Alliance Nationale, of which he is a charter member, and was given a farewell reception by the members. The plans were re-arranged, as it had been planned to tender a reception to former Mayor Alphonse Gaulin, Jr., at the same time, but because of the sudden death of the latter's brother, Gustave A., this was omitted. Dr. Maranda was given a gold-headed cane by the members, the presentation being made by Representative J. B. A. Savard. The doctor has sold practically all of his real estate holdings in Woonsocket and will make his home in Montreal, where he will practice medicine.

Senator Aldrich has introduced in the Senate increase of pension bills as follows: Louise B. Barnard, Providence, widow of Joseph F. Barnard, late of the United States navy, $12 to $24 per month; Louise B. Bowen, Providence, widow of Horace Bowen, late of Company B, Third regiment, Rhode Island heavy artillery, $12 to $24; Mary I. Kenyon, Providence, widow of George P. Kenyon, late of Company B, Tenth regiment, Rhode Island volunteer infantry, $12 to $24; Mary A. Wall, Central Falls, widow of Daniel J. Wall, late of Company G, Forty-fifth Massachusetts volunteer infantry, $12 to $30.

GOOD AIR FOR MARCHING.

Eight Hundred Apprentices in the Parade. Many Spectators and Numerous Flags.

Eight hundred men were paraded for the weekly practice march of the apprentice seaman brigade this afternoon, comprising a band, bugle and drum squad and 15 companies of apprentices. The boys are still wearing their blue jerseys, though some girls are not seeing the parade in full white; yet the boys are probably more comfortable. The number in the procession was smaller than it is sometimes, but is as good as 1,000 in the eyes of most people, who do not stop to count and whose eyes convince them that there are more than are often to be seen in big parades in other cities.

It was good air for marching, and the boys skimmed along over the ground with their quick step. There did not seem to be any great crowds of spectators, but many were out and pretty generally scattered along the route of march. The company square still remains the favored formation, but from time to time along the route this was changed for drill purposes, while when a wide space like Broadway is encountered company front is used as much as possible.

There was quite a generous display of flags in various parts of the city in honor of the parade, and hopes are [illegible] expressed that these parades may be continued during the summer that they may be seen and appreciated by the visitors, who may be welcome at the Station but do not all go there. The suggestion has been made that one week there may be a parade through the streets in the city and the next a dress parade at the Station. This is admitted to provide a desirable variety.

The line was made up of a brigade of two battalions, the Naval Training Station band heading the first and the bugle squad the second. Mate William McKay was brigade commander, with Chief Master-at-Arms Paul Kempe as brigade adjutant.

The first battalion was made up as follows: First company Chief Quartermaster W. R. Spear; Second, Chief Boatswain's Mate S. Ingham; Third, Chief Master-at-Arms O. Wendel; Fourth, Chief Quartermaster J. Sperl; Fifth, Chief Gunner's Mate B. J. Harvey; Sixth, Chief Master-at-Arms E. C. Hendrickson; Seventh, Chief Master-at-Arms H. Sosleville; Eighth (color company), Chief Quartermaster F. C. Cunningham.

The composition of the second battalion was as follows: First company, Chief Quartermatser C. F. Ostrom; Second, Chief Quartermaster G. Brodbeck; Third, Chief Master-at-Arms C. Zitzick; Fourth, Chief Quartermaster F. E. Whorley; Fifth, Chief Master-at-Arms A. Berwinkle; Sixth, Chief Master-at-Arms M. Krueger; Seventh, Chief Boatswain's Mate L. L. Seifert.

The route of march was through Training Station road, Third, Walnut and Farewell streets to Broadway; Powel avenue, Kay street, Bellevue avenue, Bowery, Thames, Cross, Poplar, Second, Cypress and Third streets, to the Training Station.

MANY INJURED STILL IN DEBRIS.

Fatalities in Pinar del Rio May Not Exceed Fifty.

Employe Drops Dynamite and Great Buildings Destroyed.

HAVANA, May 19.—Until the ruins have been more thoroughly examined it will not be known positively how many lives were lost when the Rural Guards barracks in the city of Pinar del Rio were demolished by an explosion of dynamite late yesterday. There is reason, however, for the hope that the fatalities did not exceed 50. The wounded will number more than 100, it is believed.

Investigation today developed no good grounds for the suspicion that the disaster was planned by conspirators against the government. It is almost certain that the explosion resulted from the accidental fall of a case of dynamite from the hands of an employe of the public works department, who, with others, was engaged in loading on wagons 72 cases of the explosive, which were to be transferred from the barracks to the government magazine in this city. Many injured ones are believed to be still pinned under the debris. The work of extricating the victims was continued through the night by torchlight.

The quantity of dynamite exploded was nearly three tons. The buildings destroyed were massive structures. The government wireless station was shaken to bits. Many of the inhabitants thought the disaster was caused by the approach of Halley's comet, and that it was a precursor of a still greater catastrophe.

Most of the dead were rural guards, but the entire families of several of the officers of the rural guards, it is reported, were also killed, as well as several employes of the public works department and residents of the city, on which fell a deluge of masonry from the blown-up building.

Several relief trains, carrying surgeons, officers and men of the rural guard and Government officials started yesterday from Havana to the scene of the catastrophe, which is 103 miles distant.

In the afternoon the work of removing the dynamite from the barracks, which had been taken as a result of the alarm over race disturbances, for shipment to the government magazines in Havana, was begun by employes of the public works department, assisted by rural guards. They were engaged in loading cases of the dynamite on wagons, when a terrific explosion occurred, instantly followed by another, strewing the Central Court, in which the work was going on, with dead and wounded.

The whole massive barracks building was destroyed, the adjacent row of officers' quarters was demolished, and the whole northern section of the city was deluged with a torrent of fragments of masonry.

The explosions occurred at 5 o'clock a few seconds before the men would have quit work, and it is generally believed that the first resulted from the accidental fall of a box of dynamite which was being lifted on the wagon. It is impossible, however, to determine absolutely the cause, for the reason that all the immediate vicinity was blown to fragments.

According to reports received here, the mangled remains of victims were found in the streets of the city a mile from the scene of the explosion.

FUNERAL OF SERGEANT RUBERG.

Chief Trumpeter of the Fort Adams Band Dies Suddenly on a Launch Party.

The funeral of Sergeant LeRoy N. Ruberg took place from Fort Adams this afternoon, full military honors being paid to the dead soldier at the post and the body being escorted to the reservation gate by a full detail of the garrison. A detail of 14 men accompanied the body to the depot and it left on the 5:13 train, in charge of Undertaker Marsh, for Whitman, Mass., where the interment will take place.

The deceased was the chief trumpeter of the Fort Adams Band and was a talented musician, who was known to a large circle in Newport. He was the leader of the saxophone quartet, which has pleased so many, and had often been called upon to aid the local orchestras in emergencies besides playing with the Fort band. He came from Brockton and was unmarried, and was in the neighborhood of 30 years of age.

His death was peculiar. He was one of a launch party Tuesday night and seemed in his usual health and spirits. The launch after being out for some time touched at this city and most of the party came ashore for a while. Ruberg remained on board, and when the party returned and pushed off he occupied the same seat and position which he had when the party left him. It was supposed that he had fallen asleep, and no one tried to rouse him until the fort was reached. Then they could not rouse him and he was taken to the hospital, where he was pronounced dead. It was supposed that heart disease was the cause, as he had made no complaint and was apparently in his usual good health. He was popular among all the men and his sudden death has caused a general sadness among them.

WHERE SOUVENIR POSTALS ARE MADE.

[National Magazine.]

Speaking of Germany, the fact is brought out by the Bureau of Statistics that that empire is the chief source of all imported paper and paper goods coming to the United States. More than $7,000,000 out of the $12,000,000 worth of paper goods used in the United States come from Germany. The lithographic labels and prints comprise nearly half the total imports along this line, and are valued at about $5,000,000 per year. On the other hand American manufacturers have sold paper in foreign markets to the amount of $80,000,000 during the 10 years past, but in the same period the United States has purchased $70,000,000 worth of paper and paper goods from manufacturers abroad. Over 50 different countries have made separate enumerations of paper in their official statements of exports and imports, which shows that one of the potential products of today is that used in connection with printing, which is used in all nations and in all climes. The increased production and lower cost of paper for which the wood pulp is used have spread knowledge and aided in the development of the world as has no other single product of commerce. Without an abundant supply of paper, even the potent printing press would be like a great gun with no ammunition.

PRESENT FAULTS POINTED OUT.

The International Judicial Arbitration Court Discussed.

MOHONK LAKE, N. Y., May 19.—The international judicial arbitration court was the topic assigned for discussion today at the Lake Mohonk Conference in international arbitration, Simeon E. Baldwin, former chief justice of the supreme court of Connecticut, led the speaking. He pointed out some of the faults of the present court of nations set up at the first Hague conference, and expressed a hope that the propsition to make the judges of the international prize court ex-officio judges of the court of arbitral justice, which was endorsed by this government last year, would receive general endorsement.

H. B. MacFarland of Washington, former commissioner of the District of Columbia, declared that this proposition favored by Secretary Knox in a circular note to the powers last October would be adopted, and that its success would in after years be considered the greatest achievement of the Taft administration.

MORSE MAY BE RELEASED.

Attorneys May Make Use of Legal Technicalities in Coleman Trial.

BOSTON, May 19.—A legal technicality brought to light yesterday, when George W. Coleman, the self-confessed Cambridge bank wrecker, was given a 15-year prison sentence, may be used in an attempt to secure the release of Charles W. Morse, the New York banker and financier, from the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga. Walter C. Reid, an attorney who represents the Morse interests in this section, was an interested listener at Coleman's trial yesterday, and he believed that his client can be discharged from Atlanta on the same grounds which prevented Coleman from being sentenced to the federal institution, namely, that the federal statutes governing such cases do not provide for hard labor in prison, while they specify that only prisoners sentenced to hard labor shall be confined at Atlanta.

TESTING THE NEW FILTER.

In Operation Since Sunday, But the Work Will Take Some Time to Complete.

The contractors for the new filter for the Newport Water Works started it Sunday and people are now using the filtered water. The filtering at present is carried on by the contractors, to see that it works right in every particular. So far there have been only minor corrections to make, but making them the Water Works men are receiving pointers as to what they are likely to meet later, one cause being the finding of some clay in the sand. The test will continue for some time, and until the new filter is found to be in perfect working order and capable of supplying the quantity of filtered water guaranteed. The public will not feel the full effects of the new filtration plant until the pipes are washed out, and this will take some time.

LIFE SAVERS FAIL TO SEE THE COMET.

Captain Kenyon of the Brenton's Reef life saving station reports that, while a nightly watch has been kept for Halley's comet, it has been seen at the station only once, two or three week ago, at which time the fact was reported in The News. The men were in hopes of making some observations Wednesday night, but about all they observed was fog, rain and wind. The display at sunset was peculiar, as observed at the station. There was a sudden clearing of the fog so that they could see the Davis house on the west and Lippitt's on the east. It was a red glow in the west and a strange but beautiful blue in the east. The life savers were not disposed to accuse the comet of being responsible for the display.

THE CONGRESSIONAL POWER PLANT.

[Popular Mechanics.]

The finishing touches have just been placed on the exterior of "the model power plant of the world," a $1,600,000 structure erected by the United States government a stone's throw from the Capitol at Washington. This remarkable new central power station is to furnish heat, light and power to the entire group of immense governmental buildings on Capitol Hill. This group of structures, embraced in an area of four acres, includes the Capitol proper, the Senate office building, the House of Representatives office buildings and the Congressional Library. Ultimately the plant will also be called upon to supply the building to be erected (in this group) to house the Supreme Court.

GRAND DUKE SAVES HIS AUNT.

Twelve-Year-Old Nicholas of Oldenburg in Heroic Role.

BERLIN, May 18.—The 12-year-old Hereditary Grand Duke Nicholas of Oldenburg, eldest son of the reigning grand duke, rescued his aunt, the Grand Duchess Marie of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, from drowning Sunday. The grand duchess had just stepped into a boat when it suddenly capsized, throwing her into six feet of water. Grand Duke Nicholas, who was standing on the pier, instantly jumped overboard and grasped the sinking woman. He pulled her to the surface and although he was not strong enough to lift her out of the water supported her until his shouts for help were answered.

The Grand Duke of Mecklenburg has conferred the grand duchy life-saving medal on the boy.

Miss Meredith Election Commissioner Over Seven Men in Denver.

DENVER, Col., May 19.—Practically complete returns from Tuesday's elections show that Miss Ellis Meredith, a well known club woman, has been chosen election commissioner, her total of 20,997 exceeding the combined vote of her seven men competitors. She is the first woman elected to office in the city of Denver. Miss Meredith ran on the Citizen's ticket. The practically complete count also shows that the initiative and referendum and recall charter amendments have been adopted.

EARLIEST OPENING ON RECORD.

Steamer Manchester Mariner Goes Through Straits of Belle Isle.

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia, May 9.—The earliest opening of the Straits of Belle Isle for navigation on record was denoted yesterday, when steamer Manchester Mariner, bound from Montreal to Manchester, clipped many miles off her journey by cutting through the straits. In previous years no vessel has attempted the northern passage until late in June, and osmetimes the first week in July. Reports have been received here of late that the straits were clear of ice, and yesterday a wireless message from the station at Point Arthur told of the Manchester Mariner safely making the passage.

The pipe in one street was flooded, and there was not even a suggestion of illuminating gas in it at night.

DISCUSSION ON THE TARIFF.

The Payne-Aldrich Bill to be Taken Up in Both Houses.

Longworth in New Role—Cummins Encouraged—The Inauguration Date.

[Washington correspondence of the News.]

WASHINGTON, May 17.—The tariff discussion is on. The speech of Representative Payne in defense of the law which bears his name is understood to be but the beginning of a series of addresses in both Houses and on both sides of the question. These speeches will go out as campaign documents. The ostensible occasion of the renewal of the fight is the appropriation of $250,000 for the tariff board, which was opposed by some of the regular Republicans, although it had been recommended by President Taft, and also was opposed by the Democrats. As a matter of fact, the necessity for the discussion has been recognized since the beginning of the session, and that for reasons quite aside from the tariff board and the legislation enabling it to investigate cost of production at home and abroad. It has been realized that the Payne-Aldrich bill would inevitably be an issue in the Congressional elections and that the campaign material must go out from Congress itself. The present debate is but the preliminary of an appeal to the people.

The effort of the President in asking for an appropriation for the tariff board and for larger powers has been in the line of making the body in fact a tariff commission. He has frankly stated that he desired accurate data gathered by experts to be used as a basis for future revision if such revision appeared to be necessary. The fact that Representative Longworth took up the cudgels for the President's plan is regarded as significant. It indicates not only the possible attitude of Colonel Roosevelt on the question, but shows that Mr. Longworth is rapidly becoming the administration spokesman on the floor of the House.

On his return from Iowa Senator Cummins was in high feather. He reported that everything was on the move, that he had the most enthusiastic reception ever, that his cause was growing and that everything was coming his way. This is not his exact language, but it conveys the impression left on the reportorial mind by his talk. In the meantime some of those in Washington are saying that Cummins has read himself out of the party. These are two views of a situation, but aside from the view the situation itself is one of vital interest to the American people. It will soon be their turn to offer an opinion of what it means, and until their verdict is in the remainder of us are somewhat at sea.

The amendment to the constitution changing the inauguration date from March 4 to the last Thursday in April and also supplying the defect in Presidential succession in case the President elect dies before inauguration is now on its way and should be fairly certain of passage if there is time for its consideration. The House judiciary committee reported it favorably, and the Senate has already approved the idea, although it has not passed on this particular bill. So far as known, there is little or no objection to the change. It would prolong the term of President Taft for a few weeks, but what would a few weeks amount to after four years?

The Interstate Commerce Commission objects to being overruled on a question of fact. It does not demur to the courts setting aside its findings on points of law, but intimates that when the judges seek to pass on questions of fact they are going outside of their jurisdiction. All this comes because of the decision of the federal court of the western division of the western district of Missouri concerning grain elevators in Nebraska. The commission says:

"While we recognize that upon questions of law this commission must and should yield to the courts, we also understand from repeated decisions of the Supreme Court that the courts are not competent to determine questions of fact within the jurisdiction of this commission as against the commission if the latter upon complaint and answer has investigated such questions and found thereon."

To a layman this sounds not only like good law, but like common sense. The case is appealed to the United States Supreme Court.

The end of the fight on the railroad bill is in sight. This week the Senate is meeting at 11 o'clock, and when the Senate meets before high noon it is an indication of strenuous effort to get somewhere. It is thought that a vote may be reached at least by June 1. Then the conference committee will have to get busy, but nobody knows just when the measure will reach the President.

A TIE MATCH.

Brooks Wins from Almy in the Shoot-Off of Revolver Club Members.

Wednesday evening the Providence Revolver Club members came together again, and although the evening was foggy and conditions as a whole had, some good scores were made. Only four of the shooters appeared for the match.

Why You Should Drink Hires

Because it is pure, wholesome and clean. Every ingredient is chosen with the sole aim of deserving your confidence.

Because its inventor, a practicing and practical chemist, chose for his formula the best in Nature—believing success deserving only when founded on giving equal value to those whose patronage has made his labors productive.

Because the formula—created in those good old days before chemistry had invented the artificial and the substitute—has never changed a single iota. Hires, the same yesterday, to-day and forevermore.

Because Hires has honestly proven its pre-eminent right to quench your thirst, refresh and do you good, having conferred a like service upon millions of thirsts before yours. Hires aids digestion and relieves indigestion. But it contains no trace of drugs or irritants, such as soap bark, etc.

But don't ask for rootbeer—ask for "Hires" and thus be sure to get the only genuine *root*beer.

Over Three Thousand Delegates at Sunday School Convention.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—More than 3,000 delegates from the United States and Canada and 500 from other countries are in Washington to attend the world's sixth Sunday School convention, which began today. The opening session was held this afternoon. Tonight the President will extend a welcome to the delegates.

ITALIAN LABORERS STRIKE.

Woonsocket Contractors Refuse Demand for Less Hours and More Pay.

WOONSOCKET, May 19.—Italian laborers numbering about 250 in all went out on a strike in this city today, when their demand for an eight-hour work day and a uniform wage scale was refused by the local contractors. The strike of the men, who are mortar mixers, shovelers and brick carriers, resulted in the tying up of all the building operations here, including the work on the new postoffice, the Lawson spinning mills and the Holy Family Church.

About 60 of the men assembled near the site of the new postoffice on Main street and attempted to induce the laborers there to join their movement, but the police compelled them to disperse. One of the strikers, who, it is alleged, attempted to assault one of the laborers, was arrested. Of the 250 men out 100 are organized, and they held a meeting in the Labor Temple shortly after the strike was declared. At the meeting 60 sympathizers filed applications to join in the strike.

THE TEMPTER THROUGHOUT.

Kelliher Personally Advised Coleman to Take the Bank's Money.

BOSTON, May 19.—In its efforts to convict William J. Kelliher, a strapping young man of leisure, commonly known as "Big Bill" Kelliher, of aiding and abetting George W. Coleman in looting the National City Bank of Cambridge of $309,000, the government at the opening of the case today explained that Kelliher so dominated Coleman that the latter could not resist numerous inducements to "buck the tiger" in New York, despite the fact that losses were continuous.

According to Assistant District Attorney William H. Garland, who made the opening address, Coleman began stealing from the bank in 1908, and took $20,000 in a year, in a vain effort to win at faro, with the aid of a man known as "Jack." Then came a year and a half of virtue, but in May, 1909, Coleman met Kelliher and once more listened to the tempting words of great winnings gained quickly. From that time until February of the present year the assets of the bank were transferred in $5,000 and $10,000 lots to the gamblers in New York, always with the cry that just one more play would be sufficient to make up all losses.

Mr. Garland declared that Kelliher personally advised the taking of the bank's money, and was the tempter throughout—in fact, when Coleman cried "enough" Kelliher gave him $100 to leave the city and paid his hotel bill there. Coleman went to Kansas City with Miss Hightower, his sweetheart, and was there when the storm in the bank burst. In the few weeks which followed Mr. Garland said Kelliher made every effort to settle with Coleman in order to hush his connection with the case.

The government then called four witnesses—all bank officers.

NEW YORK SAVING MONEY.

A reduction of $21,814,866 in the amount of money required to administer the city government, of New York, and a consequent saving of $240,000 in interest charges during the first three months of the present year, as compared with the corresponding three months of last year, is the story told by the city's cash accounts of the efforts of the new administration to introduce sound and efficient business methods into the management of the city's affairs during its first quarter of a year in office. This reduction consisted of $17,823,500 less revenue bond borrowings and $3,985,387 less expenditures upon budget appropriations.

TAIL OF COMET STILL IN EAST.

passed between the earth and the sun at 10:17 p. m. yesterday, Eastern time, or just before sunset last night at Honolulu, and shortly after sunrise in Japan today. If the tail is lagging from 10 to 20 hours behind the head the time of the earth's ingress is rather indefinite. Again, the width, length and direction of the tail are not definitely known, so that it is possible that people of the earth will never know whether their planet passed through the tail. Certainly there was no visual, physical or electrical manifestation in this part of the earth last night.

The observers at Harvard's sub-station on Blue Hill watched from twilight until dawn for some phenomena, but saw nothing except two small meteors, which is less than the usual nightly number. A sharp thunder shower about midnight cut off the observation for an hour, but early today the sky was clear and fairly dark after the moon went down. No report of any electrical disturbance, except by the thunder shower, has been received at the Harvard Observatory.

If the display was disappointing to many persons last night, the comet is expected to make amends for the next week or two, and may start the show tonight. If the moon, which most astronomers regard as a nuisance, were not near its greatest brilliancy the view of the comet during the next week would be much finer. Again, if the tail has not decreased in length, the end of it will not set until after midnight, so that, while the head will disappear or follow half an hour after the sun below the western horizon, the tail will continue to stream upward for several hours. It is expected that the tail will show a distinct inclination, instead of pointing straight to the zenith. What astronomers desire most is a clear black night, and such conditions cannot be hoped for until next week, or after the full moon.

NO EFFECTS ON WIRELESS.

Harvard Officials Unable to Say Whether Earth Passed Through.

BOSTON, May 19.—Officials at Harvard Observatory did not obtain a single glimpse of Halley's comet last night or early today, and were unable to definitely state today whether or not the earth had passed through the tail of the rapidly moving visitor of the skies. It was admitted that the bright moonlight may have shut out the view of an illumination from the comet's tail, and some of the observers said that the earth had probably passed through the tail without it becoming apparent. The presence of cyanogen gas, they said, could not be determined until reports were received from Harvard's astronomical station at Arequipa, Peru, where especial attention was to be given the gas.

No effects of the comet were felt on wireless telegraph instruments in this vicinity.

EARTH LATE MAKING PLUNGE.

Comet's Delay Due to the Pronounced Curvature of the Tail.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 19.—The earth did not plunge through the tail of Halley's comet at the time scheduled by astronomers, according to Professor Henry Norris Russell of Princeton and Zaccheus Daniel, the discoverer of three comets, but was several hours late in making the journey. This failure of the comet to be on time, they said today, was due to the fact that the tail had developed a pronounced curve, and it was long after sun-up in this section of the country before the passing of the earth through the comet's appendage.

Professor Russell at 2:45 a. m. noted a distinct streak of light in the east which resembled the milky way. At that time, he said, the head of the comet had passed the disc of the sun and was well on the other side of the sun. Shortly after 3 a. m. the light in the east disappeared and Professor Russell said it was possible for the inhabitants of Hawaii, and possibly the astronomers at the Lick Observatory in California, to detect in the darkness the passage of the earth through the tail. Professor Russell added that the reason why most astronomers had not been able to tell that the tail was curved was because they had been looking at its edgewise.

Mr. Daniel, who also noticed the light in the east shortly before 3 a. m., expressed the belief that the passage of the earth through the tail would make the curve more pronounced. The time at which the earth made the passage, he said, could not be ascertained at Princeton, because the arc of the curve was not known there. Mr. Daniel explained that it was not unusual for comet tails to be curved, and said that the comet of January, 1910, had a distinctly curved tail.

APPARENTLY IN SAME PLACE.

Earth Probably Has Not Passed Through Denser Part of Tail.

MT. WILSON OBSERVATORY, Pasadena, Cal., May 19.—"Dr. Henry N. Russell is an authority whose views are entitled to consideration," said Dr. C. A. Fath of the observatory corps here, when informed early this morning of the Princeton astronomer's opinion that the earth had not yet passed through the comet's tail. "I quite agree with him in regard to the curvature of the tail of the comet. More than that, we are not absolutely certain of at this time. Because of the strong moonlight which has prevailed all night, we have been unable to detect anything."

At 2 o'clock this morning, Pacific coast time, Professor Fath made the following statement: "The tail of Halley's comet is this morning apparently in the same position in regard to the earth that it was at the same time yesterday morning. This would indicate that the earth has not yet passed through the denser portion of the tail. If we are in the tail at all it is probably but the edge. So far other observations have shown no special aurora lights, nor have any meteors been observed."

HAWAIIAN RESULTS NEGATIVE.

Comet Has Nothing Solid Large Enough to Show Against the Sun.

HONOLULU, May 19.—Professor Ellerman of the Carnegie Observatory at Mt. Wilson, Cal., and his party of American astronomers, who crossed 3,000 miles of the Pacific to see Halley's comet against the sun, reported last night that their efforts had been in vain, so far as seeing the actual transit was concerned. From their temporary observatory at Diamond Head, near this city, they saw the sun spots, but not the comet. Reports to the same effect were made by Professor J. S. Donagho of the Hawaii College Observatory on Kalmuki hill.

All observations were negative in Hawaii, the place most favored by as-

There is no time in the year 1910 that coal can be bought as low as at the present time, therefore it is good policy and true economy to lay in as much coal as will be needed through next winter.

Dollars Can be Saved by Doing So.

Besides saving money coal is in better condition during the months of June and July than at any other months of the year, and those that take advantage of the low prices and put in the winter coal NOW have the BEST coal and LOWEST prices of the year. Try some of the beautiful coal in the yards of

THE GIFT PIANO.

New Number Drawn at the Bijou, ness Man Says He Had But Destroyed the Coupon.

An effort was made at the Bijou Theatre Wednesday evening to see if the presence of the comet might not prove to be some one's star of fortune. Two weeks ago an attempt was made to give away a Steinway piano, but no one having called to claim it another selection was made, and now the possessor of the new coupon will have two weeks in which to call and be presented with the instrument. The members of the audience were cautioned to preserve their coupons until the piano found an owner, as it was announced that the management intended to give it to some one and there was a fear that some may have destroyed their tickets when they found they did not hold the first number announced.

This forenoon a local business man sent in a letter announcing that he had the new number for a few days after the first attempt to give away the piano but decided it was of no use to keep the coupon longer and destroyed it. He desires to know what he will do about it. He will probably do just as have many others who have been heard from during the past two weeks, who state that they had the successful number but have mislaid the coupon. The conditions of the gift are that some person shall present at the theatre the duplicate coupon of the one drawn from the barrel in the view of the audience.

BREAKS HER OWN RECORD.

Battleship Michigan Develops 19.54-Knot Speed in Measured Mile Course Off Rockland.

Battleship Michigan was sent over the measured mile course, off Rockland, Maine, Wednesday, for 20 successive runs, varying in speed from 12 knots to better than 19 knots. The fastest mile was at the rate of 19.54 knots an hour, which exceeds by more than half a knot the fastest mile ever made in the builders' acceptance standardization trial.

The trials are being made to test the relative merits of the Rockland, Provincetown and Delaware Breakwater courses and are not designed to bring out the ultimate speed capacity of the several ships, but to demonstrate how much horse-power is developed or energy used to maintain similar speeds on the three courses.

The Michigan began her day's stunt with three runs at the rate of 17.2 knots, increasing her speed a knot on the three succeeding runs. The ship then was sent over the mile five times, with a view to reaching a speed that would be a fraction better than 19 knots. The remaining runs were at the following rate: Three at 16.17 knots, three at 14.14 knots and three at 12 knots.

The maximum of propeller revolutions was 121.79 per minute. The average number of propeller revolutions for the five high-speed runs was 124.2 per minute.

The Michigan again went on the Rockland course today, to repeat the excellent showing she made yesterday. The 20 runs were not expected to be completed until late in the day. The trial board officials are desirous of pushing ahead these tests as fast as possible, as the trials on the three courses will occupy at least a month, with reasonably good weather to aid them.

HANSEN—MURPHY.

The marriage of Miss Margaret T. Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel P. Murphy, to Mr. O. P. Hansen, took place Wednesday afternoon at St. Mary's rectory, Rev. William B. Meehan performing the ceremony in the presence of a small company of relatives and friends. The bride wore a gown of pink silk trimmed with Irish lace and was attended by her sister, Miss Mary E. Murphy, who wore a gown of blue pongee and a black hat. The groom was attended by Mr. James F. Tracy of New York.

A reception was held at the bride's home on Thames street during the afternoon and evening, until time for the departure of the boat for New York. A number of friends accompanied the couple to the boat landing and made that a merry place until the boat started. Mr. and Mrs. Hansen will spend their honeymoon in New York and Washington, going later to Norfolk, where they will make their home.

BASE BALL NOTES.

The storm Wednesday shut down on base ball so far as Newport was concerned. The Waltham team was here to play, but did not. Those who were in town can appreciate what some of the players belong to the submarine corps. The game at St. George's School with the Brown Freshmen was also called off, for the same reason.

Today the Newports play a practice game with the navy team, and Saturday the Providence Independents will be the attraction at Wellington Park.

Pat Sullivan, formerly of Newport, made a home run inside the grounds in Fall River Tuesday, the first of the season on the grounds. Apparently the Fall River fans are satisfied with Sully, as it has been announced that Manager O'Brien has not sent for Le-Chance for whom he made a try before he secured Sullivan.

FLAG-POLE FOR THE SOLDIERS AND SAILORS PLOT

A 19 foot flag-pole has been placed in the Soldiers and Sailors plot in the Island Cemetery by the men of the Newport shipyard. This plot has lacked a flag-pole and Superintendent A. K. McAllaster had long wished some friend would supply one. No one came forward, and so he had the pole made and erected himself. On Decoration day the flag will be hoisted and the new pole will go into commission. It will greatly improve the appearance of things at the plot on Decoration days.

CHILDREN NOT TO SING.

Too Many Volunteers, With One Teacher to Care for Them.

Army Detail and Route of March for Memorial Day Parade Announced.

The joint committee on Memorial day held its weekly meeting Wednesday evening, and a few more details were arranged for the already nearly completed plans. Colonel Coffin of Fort Adams has informed the committee that the army detail for the parade will comprise four companies of coast artillery and the post band from Fort Adams. There will also be a detail of officers for the carriages. Admiral Hodgore has granted permission for the use of the floats at the Government Landing for the strewing of the flowers on the water, in memory of those buried in the sea. This feature will take place at 11 o'clock.

The volunteer committee which conferred with Superintendent Lull, in reference to having the pupils of the public schools sing songs on Touro Park during the passage of the parade reported that 391 scholars and one teacher, Henry W. Clarke, principal of the Lonthal, the dean of the corps of teachers, had volunteered for this duty. The committee explained that circulars had been sent to the schools by the superintendent and the report was based upon the returns from these circulars. It seemed to be inadvisable to have so many children gather with but one teacher to look after them, and the general committee declined to take any action. The idea of having the children sing did not originate in the committee and thus was the first time the matter was before it in an official manner. Some of the teachers said they were not sufficiently enlightened as to what was desired, to volunteer their services.

Comrade Pritchard reported that he had made arrangements for music at the Memorial Sunday service at the Thames Street Methodist Episcopal Church, and for the Memorial Day exercises at the First Presbyterian Church. The committee on music was authorized to contract with the Newport Military band for such instrumental music as is required.

Adjutant of the Day McMahon announced the route of march, as follows: Broadway, Rhode Island avenue, Kay street, Bellevue avenue, Bowery, Young, Thames and Warner streets to the Island Cemetery. As usual the military escort will be at liberty to retire from duty when the veteran bodies enter the cemetery for their service at the Soldiers & Sailors plot.

Captain Clark Takes Command of Naval Academy Practice Squadron at Annapolis.

Captain George R. Clark, U. S. N., commandant of midshipmen at the Naval Academy has taken formal command at Annapolis of the Naval Academy practice squadron and hoisted the pennant of division commander of the first division of the second fleet on board the Massachusetts. This ship will be his temporary flagship until the arrival of the Iowa at Annapolis, the last of this month, when that vessel will become the flagship of the Naval Academy practice squadron.

The ships of this practice squadron are assigned to the second fleet of the navy, and are thus distinguished from the first fleet, which is under the immediate command of Rear Admiral Schroeder. This officer is commander-in-chief in the Atlantic and all naval vessels in the Atlantic are nominally under his command except such as are on special service and thereby exempted to some extent.

Lieutenant Commander J. R. P. Pringle, who is the aid to Captain Clark for the practice cruise of the midshipmen, also reported on board the Massachusetts when Captain Clark read the orders placing him, from date, in command of the practice squadron.

Captain Clark is the junior captain on the navy list, having been promoted to that grade May 4. The three battleships of the practice squadron are busily engaged in fitting out for the cruise, which takes him into European waters.

INTRODUCED BY MR. SHEFFIELD.

Congressman Sheffield has introduced in the House increase of pension bills as follows: Frank M. Horton, Providence, late of the Seventh squadron, Company A, Rhode Island cavalry, $12 to $20 per month; Mary S. Lowe, Providence, widow of Edward Lowe, late of Company E, Third regiment, Massachusetts heavy artillery, $12 to $24; Heartlett Jeffrey, Providence, widow of John A. Jeffrey, late of Company F, Second Rhode Island volunteer infantry $12 to $24. Mr. Sheffield has offered the resolution of Laurel Grange, No. 4, of Gloucester, providing for a small federal appropriation to land-grant colleges for the encouragement and support of extension work.

YACHTING NOTES.

Captain Walter Loring has purchased from George Eaton of Eaton's Ferry 50-foot sloop yacht Juliet, one of the old-timers which has afforded a former owner plenty of sport. She is about five tons and has arrived here for an overhauling.

Lieutenant C. E. Wood of battleship Virginia has purchased from Fall River a 21-foot raceabout, which is at Given's yard to be altered from a centerboard to a keel rig. She is to have a five-foot keel, with lead ballast added.

Launch Geraga, recently sold by Dr. Beck to a Westport, Long Island, yachtsman, and which wintered at Nock's yard, East Greenwich, is here on her way to her new hailing port. She is taking on board some of the fittings which were stored here.

NOT DUE TO THE COMET.

But Newport Experiences Peculiar Weather Phenomena.

Yellow Glow at Sunset and Thunder and Lightning at the Time of Syzygy.

We have met the comet, and are still here, doing business. That was not unexpected. Captain Bill Sherman of Fall River, who saw Halley's comet the last time it was around, in 1835, said he lived after that event, and he saw no reason for not living after the visit of 1910. And he was right.

Still, it was interesting to note Wednesday night the effect of circumstances and surroundings on people—just ordinary folks, not inclined to be superstitious or to see snakes or flying ghosts or any of the other things which disturb some. When a comet's tail is to strike the world it is different, and that this is so was shown Wednesday.

To begin with, every one who reads was told that the comet would be invisible. It rose and set practically with the sun, and the sun is still Old Sol and allows nothing in this neighborhood to take the shine away from him. So of course the comet was out of sight. Incidentally, Jupiter Pluvius was on deck and took things into his own hands, with the result that Old Sol took a back seat with Mr. Comet.

It was just before sunset. The comet was setting, as well as the sun, a few minutes intervening. Fog and dulness prevailed, and pervaded the atmosphere. Every one had given up hopes of seeing anything but fog, when there came a lightening of the fog bank, about 6:50, and a peculiar yellow light flooded the city and surrounding country. To those indoors there was a sudden darkening which called for lights; to those outdoors there seemed to be a sudden increase of light. A yellow atmosphere, which reminded one of the yellow day in 1884, was everywhere. It prevailed five or six minutes, and as the sun neared the horizon it gradually faded, until as the sunset gun was fired and the flags came down from the army and navy staffs things had resumed the ordinary foggy evening appearance.

It was a peculiarity of this color phenomenon that people in full possession of their senses detected a peculiar odor at the time of the yellow color. They were in different places at the time, but agree that there was a peculiar odor noticeable. It is to be presumed that this was so, and that there were as many different causes for the odors as there were people who smelt them.

The same color effect could be noticed later on Thames street, when the lights in front of some of the shops produced an identically similar effect, though of course on a smaller scale. The fog effect was low. If one gazed upwards Luna could be seen in the sky—not very plain to be sure, but surprisingly distinct when one considered the superabundance of fog close to the ground. That is all there was to the evening glow, which caused such a large proportion of Newport's population to go out doors and gaze. If the comet had not been passing few would have noted the color scheme.

The fog and the fog bells and whistles seemed to have the centre of the stage, and also the side shows, until it was time for this mundane sphere to be in syzygy. Then things began to happen again. It began raining at 10:45. The fog was right on the job and the wind was southwest, but the first raindrops came down hard. At 10:55 came one of the most brilliant lightning flashes one has ever seen. It seemed to come right out of the fog, without preliminary warning, and startled people who were outdoors into exclamations of surprise. That the lightning was at a long distance from Newport was shown by the length of time before the thunder roll was heard.

There was more lightning, from the west or southwest, and more rain. The wind began to haul to the westward and the fog cleared, but the lightning and the rain continued. Gradually the thunder moved closer and closer, and by 11:25 was overhead; then it moved to the northeast and seemed to be passing away. The rain was intermittent, the wind was eccentric, at times blowing with considerable strength and in a sort of whirlwind style at times being like the rain, quiescent.

About 11:45 came the last real lightning flash and thunder roll. The moon came out bright and clear, clearer and brighter it seemed than usual, and the stars came out to keep her company. The northwest wind drove away the thin clouds which had covered the sky and by midnight the stars were shining bright and clear over a considerable part of the heavens. The rain was over and we had passed through syzygy, with no more permanent effects than one would notice, from an ordinary rain with a twisting wind to put umbrellas out of commission.

IN THE CLOTHING BUSINESS.

Police Recover Garments Stolen by a Woman, and a Suit Taken by a Sailor.

The police have been in the clothing business of late. A young woman who had been living with a man not her husband was arrested Tuesday night, and one of the women boarding in the same house must have diagnosed the case as one for the state farm. So she gathered in a quantity of wearing apparel belonging to the woman under arrest, borrowed a box from the boarding mistress to take away some laundry, and took the clothing. Things did not break just as she expected. The young woman was fined $10 and costs, which she paid and went back to her boarding house, to iron her clothing. She did not iron it, but instead reported to the police that it had been taken away, and evidently by this Taunton woman, who boarded in the house. The police found the clothing hidden under a mattress on Bachelier's court. It had been carefully ironed and was ready to be removed. The Taunton woman, who goes under the name of Gordon, today pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny of clothing and was fined $20 and costs.

One of the Training Station men reported that a suit of clothes belonging to him had been taken from his room by Max Rosenthal, another Training Station man. Max pleaded guilty and was fined $20 and costs, and the suit was recovered.

Two drunks were fined $2 and costs each.

There was a lively scrap this morning at Franklin and Thames streets. Two boys attending the Coddington school, who played on rival base ball teams recently, met at that place on their way to school and resumed discussion of a play in the recent game, with the result that they quarrelled. The police gathered them in and at the station they were given some good advice, shook hands, made up and were allowed to go to school.

One struggler was returned to the Training Station.

One of the officers picked up a stray bicycle which awaits an owner. It may have been stolen, judging by the place where it was found.

FEW FISH TODAY.

About 10,000 Mackerel Received Wednesday, and 1,000 Barrels of Scup and Other Kind.

There comes an end to all things, even the stories of what the comet will do, and finally there came an end to the packing of fish on Long wharf in the rain and blow Wednesday. There was in all a big shipment. Something like 10,000 mackerel came in small lots, and about 1,000 barrels of scup and mixed fish were shipped. Though the weather conditions much of the time were anything but pleasant. However, all the work was done before the New York boat arrived, and every one felt tired. Probably Fred Harris noticed that he was a trifle more tired than any one else, for he had some hustling to do.

Today things are just the opposite. The sun is shining and the conditions are not bad for working, but there is nothing to do. None of the netters went out Wednesday night on account of the storm, and so no mackerel came in. Some of the trappers expected to ship a few fish this afternoon, but generally when fish are coming well Thursday is an off day for shipments, and this is Thursday.

Steamer Winona brought in a whip-tailed shark this morning. It was a fine specimen, the tail being perfect to the end. The shark measured 7 feet 8 inches to the tail and the tail measured the same, giving a total length of 15 feet 4 inches.

Mackerel schooner Evelyn M. Thompson came up to the dock today to take on ice and supplies before leaving for the Cape shore. There were seven seiners or big netters at anchor in the harbor this morning and a whole fleet of netters was tied up at Hammett's and Perry Mill wharves, waiting to go out.

NEW THEATRE BILLS.

The new pictures at the Bijou Theatre include three feature pictures and two good comedies. "Up a Tree," the biograph's latest comedy, is a chapter of funny incidents; "The Angel of Dawson's Claim," an engaging child picture, is well acted, a little child taking one of the principal parts and doing well; "Her Sweet Revenge," another feature picture and "Mr. A Jonah" and "The Rival Cooks," comedies, complete the list. Marjorie Dudley, who sings the old songs, will give "Annie Laurie," and there are illustrated songs by Jule Carter.

At the Star the new pictures are "The Adventures of a Cowpuncher," a Western picture developing human traits of character; "The Dragoon's Helmet," "Broken Happiness," "She Wanted to Marry a Hero" and "The Cigars His Wife Bought." Mr. Benni and Miss Harding will introduce illustrated songs entitled "I'll March in April With May" and "In the Same Old Way."

JAMESTOWN.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

Barge Valentine is in with a cargo of coal for the Ferry company.

Tug Teaser tied up to the old Enterprise wharf here last evening, until the fog lifted.

A thunder storm of unusual severity passed over the island between 10:30 and 11:30 o'clock last evening. Although sharp, the lightning has not been reported as having struck anywhere on the island. The heavy rainfall accompanying the storm was much welcomed by the farmers, whose growing crops need the water.

Mrs. M. V. Littlefield, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Clarke, in Niantic, has returned to her home on Union street.

Mrs. W. F. Davis of Providence is on the island today on business.

Miss Crowley of Providence, at one time teacher of the north school, is visiting friends on the island.

Mr. Elmer and family, who have been at their cottage at the Dumplings, have left for their home in Philadelphia.

At the regular meeting of the Grange last evening a shadow pantomime play was given by several of the members. There was a large attendance considering the weather and they showed the appreciation of the efforts of those who performed.

A. O'D. Taylor, jr., has rented for Mrs. Ellen Cottrell her furnished cottage on Lincoln street, known as the Lincoln cottage, to Judge C. B. Howry of Washington, for the summer season.

TAIL OF COMET STILL IN EAST.

tronomers for viewing the spots on the sun. The weather was perfectly clear. Both astronomers agree that the comet contains nothing solid large enough to be visible through the 6½-inch telescope against the background of the sun.

Great fear was manifest among the Orientals on the island as the time for the comet's approach drew near.

TAIL VISIBLE LAST NIGHT.

Naval Observatory Professor Says Earth Passed Through Today.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Professor Asaph Hall of the Naval Observatory said at 4 o'clock this morning that the earth would not pass through the tail of Halley's comet until some time today. From 2:30 o'clock until dawn, said Professor Hall, there was visible in the east, extending from the northeast in a southerly direction, the dim beam of a light of the comet tail. As the moon descended westward the shaft athwart the heavens grew plainer, and was easily visible to the naked eye.

EARTH MAY NOT PASS THROUGH.

Comet's Orbit at Angle and Tail Lagging by Millions of Miles.

SAN JOSE, Cal., May 19.—According to Dr. Campbell of Lick Observatory, the earth may not pass through the comet's tail after all. He said early today: "The tail was visible as soon as the moon set. It is probable that we shall miss passing through the tail tonight, because it is lagging by several million miles. The comet's orbit is inclined at an angle with the earth's orbit, and it is probable we shall not pass through the tail at all."

NO WIRE INTERFERENCE.

Slight One in Northwestern Canada Not Attributable to Comet.

CHICAGO, May 19.—Commercial telegraph companies feared the passage of the earth through the comet's tail would have an effect on their wires similar to that of the aurora borealis, which is responsible for ground currents, making the transmission of despatchs impossible. No disturbances were reported however, except a slight interference felt on the wires of one company between Vancouver and Regina, in northwestern Canada. Even this was not believed to be attributable to the comet, as auroral displays in the Far North are not unusual at this season of the year. None of the wireless companies report interference with the transmission of despatches.

STILL NORTH OF THE ECLIPTIC.

Earth May Pass Considerably to the South of the Comet's Tail.

JOHANNESBURG, Africa, May 19.—According to the observations made at the Transvaal observatory, of which R. T. A. Innes is the director, the earth had not traversed the tail of Halley's comet at dawn today. The tail was still north of the ecliptic, and at the observatory it was thought probable that the earth would pass considerably to the south of it.

Transvaal time is 6 hours, 58 minutes earlier than New York time.

DR. HAROLD JACOBY'S VIEWS.

Does Not Think Earth Repelled Tail or Missed It Through Curve.

NEW YORK, May 19.—"If the earth did not pass through the tail of Halley's comet last night—and I see that some observers fortunately situated doubt that it did—I do not believe we will pass through it at all," said Dr. Harold Jacoby, Rutherford professor of astronomy of Columbia University, today. "We may look for the comet now in the western skies in the evening, with the possibility of seeing a bit of it tonight, the probability of getting a good view of it tomorrow evening and the practical certainty that by Saturday night, providing clear atmospheric conditions prevail, it will be a brilliant spectacle in the west after sunset."

Professor Jacoby did not think there was anything in the theory which has been advanced that the earth's repulsive force would tend to push away the cometary appendage, and that the curvature of the tail noted by observers a few days ago might have been increased so that the earth would miss the luminous haze altogether.
